

Holland Case Is Dismissed

'State Not Ready,'
Said Harned, Who
Refiled Same Charge
In Justice Court

"The state is not ready for trial," Prosecuting Attorney Leo J. Harned, stated to Circuit Judge Robert L. Johnson, Marshall, in dismissing the murder case against Edgar W. Holland, 43, in the Pettis County circuit court, when it was called for trial this morning.

Holland was charged with the murder of his wife Molly Mattie Holland, 36. No sooner had Harned asked the dismissal, than he announced he was refiling an identical murder charge against the defendant. When Harned announced the state was not ready and asked for dismissal, Fred Wesner, attorney for Holland, cut in saying "It isn't fair to treat the defendant in any such manner."

"I think the state should have been ready," said Judge Johnson, judge of the 15th judicial district, Marshall, and a former congressman from the old Sixth district, called to hear the trial in place of Judge Dimmitt Hoffman who disqualified himself because of illness.

Continuing he said, "This case cannot be tried now. The state has dismissed the case, and the court cannot prevent dismissal."

Mr. Wesner then said, "I want it definitely understood that the defendant is ready for trial."

Jury Panel Dismissed
Judge Johnson summoned the jurors into the court room, and told the special jurors they were discharged from further service, and the regular panel was dismissed as to this case.

Prosecutor Harned left the court house and went to the office of A. M. Harlan, justice of the peace, where he refiled the murder charge against Holland. The information is identical as that under which he was previously held, and on which he was bound over to the action of the October term of criminal court.

Bond Furnished
Immediately following the dismissal, Holland with his attorney and bondsmen, went to Judge Harlan's court and furnished $15,000 bond for his release. The bond was signed by Mr. and Mrs. Scott Higgins, La Monte; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sevier, Houstonia; Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell of near Warrensburg and by Mr. Wesner.

Holland was released after his first preliminary hearing on a $15,000 bond signed by the same persons. Several other persons residing in the La Monte community called Holland today offering to sign the bond if it was necessary to have more names.

Shortly before noon today Harned and Wesner agreed to hold the preliminary hearing before Justice Harlan on Wednesday November 15. Judge Harlan indicated the hearing will be conducted in the circuit court room of the court house, if the court room is available at that time.

The warrant was given Sheriff C. Ross Bothwell, who formally arrested Holland on the second charge.

State Not Ready
After Harned had returned to his office from Judge Harlan's court, he was queried regarding the dismissal, to which he replied, "We were not ready for trial. At the opening of this term of court we asked for a continuance, but the case was set. We filed a motion for continuance, to which (Please Turn to Page 6, Col. 4)

Truman Charges Republicans Have 'Rule or Ruin' Policy

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—(P)—Senate Republicans were said today by Sen. Harry S. Truman to have adopted a "rule or ruin" policy in an effort to "blackjack the American people" into electing a president satisfactory to the isolationists.

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate addressed his prepared speech to a meeting of Democratic leaders at a luncheon here after receiving word that Sen. Joseph H. Ball (R-Minn.) had announced his intention to support President Roosevelt.

Hugh Fulton, a Truman adviser, said the speech was moved to noon "to capitalize" on Ball's decision in the Twin Cities area. "I am very happy over Sen. Ball's conclusion," Truman told a press conference. "He's a good man. I think he always was a Democrat and didn't know it."

"Off the Cuff"
Truman originally planned to make his major foreign policy speech at a meeting of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor group to night in St. Paul, across the river. Instead, he will speak "off the cuff" at the dinner meeting.

Following up President Roosevelt's Saturday night attack on Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's foreign policy views, Truman referred in his speech to John Foster Dulles, Dewey adviser as "the American First."

"Let us ask Mr. Dewey to call upon the American people to elect to the senate and house men who will support him if he tries to carry out a strong foreign policy," Truman declared. He called upon the Republican standard bearer to "repudiate" isolationists who "would never let him carry out a strong policy if he wanted to."

Truman opened his speech by referring to the "stirring, vigorous words" of the president, "the man the Republicans would have you think is a tired old man."

Robert Wesner Bailed Out, Has Broken Ankle

Parents Learn he Is in Hospital in Friendly Country

Robert L. Wesner, 20, Flight Officer in the U. S. Army Air Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Wesner, 800 West Seventh street, reported missing in action in a raid over Austria, October 7, is safe in a hospital in a friendly country, his parents learned this morning.

Saturday they received a telegram for the war department stating he was missing in action in a raid over Austria, October 7.

This morning they received a letter from the pilot of the plane, reading as follows:

Pilot's Letter

"Saturday, October 14, 1944.
"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Wesner,
"This letter probably will be quite a surprise but it's just to assure you that Bob is perfectly safe and well. We all bailed out over friendly territory in Yugoslavia last Saturday after losing two engines over Vienna. As the pilot of the ship I felt quite a bit of anxiety to see the fellows after we hit the ground and Bob was the first I got to. He landed on the side of a hill and from what I could derive, I think his right ankle was broken. He and two others that injured their ankles were taken to a hospital and given aid. I didn't see them after that and seven of us arrived back here Thursday. The other three will be back in a few days and then Bob will send you a letter. I'm awfully sorry he hurt his ankle but Thank God we're all safe now."

"Sincerely,
"Bob McCarty."

Rotary Club Sees Pictures

The Rotary Club of Sedalia held its regular weekly meeting at the Hotel Bothwell at noon today with President Lawrence Barnett in charge. In the absence of the program chairman for the month of October, B. B. Bess, Ray Lippard, general program chairman, was asked to introduce the program features.

Lt. S. Einstein, public relations officer, SAOF and Corporal Colom, technician, had brought two films for presentation, but finding they had omitted bringing an essential part of their equipment, Prof. Forrest Drake and Prof. R. M. Ryckman of the Smith-Cotton high school brought down their machine and assisted in the showing of the pictures. Preceding the pictures Lt. Einstein called attention to those present to the Community Chest Drive, stating that fifty per cent of this went to the men in the service. He also stressed the importance of the sixth war loan which will be forthcoming next month. The pictures shown portrayed the activities in the South Pacific, and included a picture entitled "These Are Our Enemies." Guests for the day were O. V. Richeson, Marshall, with Morris Williamson; Clyde E. Evans, Kansas City with Foster Scotten and Gerald Cecil with Harry Brougher.

Pound for Smash To Berlin

Six Allied Armies
In Coordinated
Offensive Hammer
Nazi Defense Line

By William Frye

LONDON, Oct. 23.—(P)—Six Allied armies pounded the tight-drawn Nazi defense band from Holland to Switzerland's border today with an unceasing pressure aimed at opening the eventual cracks that will permit a smash to Berlin.

The rain of blows was not yet a grand coordinated offensive, but it was intended to hammer the enemy line ever thinner and to mask the timing and place of the main attack.

The assault was on against the shrinking south Schelde pocket west of Antwerp, the Breda box north of Antwerp, the hard-held doorway from Aachen, the upper entrance of the Saar valley, and the sharp-cloven Vosges passes.

The British Second army, striking in three columns on a 12-mile front from the western side of its Holland salient, drove to within three to five miles of the prize communications hub of 'S-Hertogenbosch.

Canadians Sweep on
The Canadian army swept on from Eschsen on the Dutch Belgian border, 16 miles north of Antwerp, after an 11-mile advance in two days, and hammered methodically toward Roosendaal, four miles ahead.

The strikes here, were assuming the proportions of a general offensive to clear the sea lanes to Allied-held Antwerp as a supply port, had pressed the Germans from two sides into the Breda box—a 40 by 20-mile rectangle below the Maas (Meuse).

Canadians were about to outflank the German coastal anchor at Bergen op Zoom, four miles ahead.

West of Antwerp was the Canadian capture of Breskens and Ft. Frederik-Hendrik, a mile farther west, an old fortress modernized by the Germans. On the south side of the pocket the Canadians took Schoondijke, pinching the Germans into a canal sided area of only five by eight miles.

Hold on Schelde Slipping
The German hold on the Schelde fast was slipping with the capture of the controlling enemy guns at Breskens and Fort Frederik-Hendrik. Only one battery—there were three two days ago—remained in action in the Vlissingen (Flushing) area on the north side of the estuary after Allied heavy bomber attacks.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First army pushed a mile east toward Duren after its capture of its first major German city, Aachen, and was clearing the enemy from Wurselen, three miles northeast of Aachen.

It was here—other Americans last were reported six miles southeast of Duren which is 20 miles from Cologne on the Rhine—that the Germans apparently feared the main blow was building up.

A Berlin broadcast said the First army seemed to have completed its regrouping, brought up "vast" tank reinforcements and could be expected to attack at any moment somewhere along a 16-mile front between Geilenkirchen and Stolberg.

The front from Aachen to the Vosges was a rain-soaked mire, and clouds at tree-top height also made an immediate offensive seem unlikely.

Berlin Admits Penetrations
Wide penetrations of East Prussia were acknowledged by Berlin, but Moscow remained silent on the campaign which the enemy has reported for a week. German broadcasts said the Russians had pulled up on both sides of the rail center of Tilsit, a city of 50,000 on the Niemen river where Napoleon and Czar Alexander humbled Prussian pride in 1807 by signing a treaty taking away Prussia's provinces west of the Elbe.

"Attacks and counterattacks are alternating in rapid succession," inside of East Prussia, "several Luftwaffe squadrons were put in the air for defense."

Goldap, at the top of the wild Masurian lake country, was the scene of a Von Hindenburg triumph early in the last war when he collapsed the invading Russians' west wing and crushed the czar's armies with losses of 100,000 men.

Report of Theft
A report made to the police Sunday evening was that a man's hat, belonging to O. F. Wagoner, a black purse containing $5, some keys and a rationing book, were missing from the home 225 South Missouri avenue. Police made an investigation.

Promotion Prior to Being War Casualty
Charles William Dickmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dickmann, 722 East Ninth street, reported killed in action on February 24, 1944, in the European area, had been promoted to the rank of a first lieutenant, prior to his death, parents learned today in a message from the war department.

Gen. Patch's Son is Killed

STAUNTON, Va., Oct. 23.—(P)—Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, commanding the American Seventh army in France, notified his wife here today that their son, Capt. Alexander M. Patch, III, 24, has been killed in action. The radiogram handed through the war department said: "Mac killed instantly yesterday while assaulting enemy positions in France."

Capt. Patch, the general's only son, had just returned to duty after treatment for wounds received Aug. 28. Commissioned from West Point in 1942, he had been overseas this year with the 79th division in command of a rifle company.

His wife and young son reside at Evanston, Ill.

U. S. Flag is Restored to Philippines

TACLOBAN, Leyte, Philippines, Oct. 23.—(P)—Constitutional government under the American flag formally was restored to the Philippines today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur while warfare still surged near Tacloban, the temporary capital.

Cheers of liberated Filipinos mingled with speeches by General MacArthur and President Sergio Osmena.

"We are here in this capital city of province of Leyte," said MacArthur, "to establish under the protection of American arms the foundations of your commonwealth government and thereby initiate the restoration to the Philippine people of the sacred right of self rule."

He announced all laws of the Philippine commonwealth, government, again are "in full force and effect and legally binding upon the peoples of the areas of the Philippines free of enemy occupation and control."

Stirring Ceremony
The stirring ceremony was on the steps of the white stone Leyte provincial capital building. An honor guard bugled the assembly call as General MacArthur and President Osmena rode up from the harbor jetty together.

"You can still hear the echo of our guns, but in their echo there is being reborn the new and greater Philippine nation, a nation consecrated in the blood of its citizens," said MacArthur. "For you are no conquering army. We are an army of free citizens, like yourselves determined unto death that Democratic processes shall not pass."

General MacArthur introduced President Osmena who, with six members of his cabinet, landed behind U. S. liberation forces on Leyte beach. They came from the United States.

Yanks Mingle With Filipinos
Hundreds of American servicemen mingled with the Filipinos who swarmed in front of the Leyte capital building to hear General MacArthur's proclamation.

MacArthur said all Japanese and puppet "republic" laws are null and void and added: "I do hereby announce my purpose progressively to restore and extend to the peoples of the Philippines the sacred right of government by constitutional process under the regularly constituted commonwealth government as rapidly as the several occupied areas are liberated and the military situation will otherwise permit."

Former Sedalian's Son is Killed
Carroll McKivett, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. McKivett, of Houston, Texas, was killed in England, in a crash, on October 3, a message to P. E. Sullivan, Mrs. McKivett's uncle stated today. The news was received from the war department in Houston Sunday.

Mrs. McKivett is the former Miss Mildred Carroll, of Sedalia. The young man leaves his parents and two sisters, all of Houston.

Invasion Briefs

By the Associated Press

"Japan is now on the defensive," a Japanese naval commentator, Masanori Ito, said today in a dispatch transmitted by Domei news agency.

Ito's statement came in the course of remarks in which it was claimed that Japan "welcomed" the American invasion of the Philippines because it offered "another opportunity to deal crushing blows on the mainstay of the enemy's Pacific forces."

The speaker compared Formosa with Pearl Harbor but then said:

"However, a considerable difference exists in the present circumstances compared to three years ago. That difference is that Japan is now on the defensive while three years ago she was on the offensive."

A NAVY BASE IN THE MARIANAS, Oct. 12—(Delayed)—(P)—Eight Japanese Zeroes jumped two navy Liberator bombers off Iwo Jima today and when the shooting was over five of the enemy planes had been destroyed with a total damage to the Liberators of one bullet hole through a wing.

The planes were on a special search mission under command of Lieut. W. H. Miller, USNR, Cape Girardeau, Missouri, and Lieut. W. B. Oliver, USNR, Phoenix, Ariz.

CHUNGKING, Oct. 23.—(P)—A Chinese counterattack against the Japanese 21 miles north of Kweilin has scored "appreciable gains," the high command announced tonight.

The communique also said Chinese counter blows against the Japanese on the west river front had achieved considerable successes.

ROME, Oct. 23.—(P)—The large Aegean island of Evvoia (Euboea), adjacent to the Greek mainland north of Athens, has been cleared completely of Germans, Allied headquarters announced today.

The island is a mountainous stretch of 115 miles and 33 miles at its greatest breadth. It is separated from the mainland by a narrow channel, the northern part of which is known as the channel of Atalanti.

Mr. Riggs succeeded in capturing the intruder and holding him until the police arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. Riggs were married by Rev. H. U. Campbell, pastor of the Fifth Street Methodist church, while he was pastor of a church in Kansas City.

Trying to Trap Enemy Troops Retreating up the Wide Leyte Valley

By C. Yates McDaniel

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, PHILIPPINES, Oct. 23.—(Via Army Radio)—(P)—American soldiers, pushing westward on Leyte Island's southern front, today overran strong Japanese defense positions and were trying to trap enemy troops retreating up the wide Leyte valley.

A. P. war correspondent Al Dopking, on the southern front, reported that Yank Seventh infantry division troops, led by tanks, were moving up the open valley inland from Dulag where one of the first American beachheads was established.

The troops engaged in the action were under command of Lt. Col. Herbert Edmundson of Georgia.

The country leading northwestward from Dulag is flat and ideal for tank warfare. The Leyte valley, over which the forces of liberation are moving, is 25 miles wide on the southwest. It tapers to 10 miles wide on the northeast. The valley is flanked by mountain ranges with peaks rising up to 1,300 feet.

(The action west of Dulag appeared to center on the highway leading from the east coast to the roadside town of San Pablo, seven miles inland. Beyond that town was Burauen, west end of the provincial road. There it turns northward toward Dagami, highway junction.)

Japs Retreating
(Supposedly, the Japanese on the southern front were retreating northward up the open valley or falling back into mountain positions on the southwest of the valley.)

Meanwhile Tacloban, the provincial capital, occupied by the Yanks after they took the airfield in that sector, became the temporary capital of the first free government of the Philippines in more than two years.

As his troops pressed forward, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced preparations already are under way for construction of a great base for future operations around the captured airdromes of Tacloban and Dulag.

The supply problem for Japan's vicious 16th division already is becoming difficult after their "preliminary defeat" and should they be forced into the hills might become acute, Gen. MacArthur said in his communique today.

Working on Airfield
The role of this strategic island, in the heart of the Philippines, was underlined by the announcement that work has commenced on the two captured airfields and other installations to prepare "a great base for all arms for future operations."

Gen. Douglas MacArthur and President Sergio Osmena inaugurated the Philippine commonwealth government's authority in liberated territory during a dramatic ceremony at Tacloban, designated as the temporary capital. They addressed the rest of the subjugated Philippines, as well as the United States, while gunfire echoed in the background.

American forces have landed, said the general in a proclamation, "as a prelude to the liberation of the entire territory of the Philippines."

He declared "null and void" the laws of the Japanese-sponsored "republic" in liberated areas. He promised extension of commonwealth authority, under the United States government, to other Philippine regions as quickly as they are freed and military considerations permit.

Senator Ball for Roosevelt
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(P)—Senator Joseph H. Ball, Minnesota Republican, announced today that "I shall vote and support President Roosevelt."

The senator, abandoning his party for the presidential race, said Mr. Roosevelt had met the foreign policy issues more squarely than had Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Bad Weather on 5th Army Front

ROME, Oct. 23.—(P)—Eighty army troops inching their way up the Adriatic coast have occupied Cervia, on the coastal road four miles north of captured Crescenza and only 12 miles below Ravenna, but bad weather again hampered operations on the Fifth army front, Allied headquarters announced today.

Cervia, 19 miles above Rimini, is on the main highway from Rimini to northeastern Italy.

The communique said the Allied bridgehead over the Savio river has been enlarged.

The British troops enlarged their bridgehead despite difficulties that were caused by the rising river waters. Two miles north of captured Crescenza, Canadian troops established another bridgehead a mile wide and two miles deep in the face of heavy German resistance and counterattacks by tanks and infantry.

Heavy fighting was reported in the southern outskirts of Frassineto, about four miles southwest of Castel San Pietro on the Bologna-Rimini highway.

DAILY WASHINGTON

Merry-go-
Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 — Judging by the type of mollycoddle investigation now being done by certain senate committees, another Teapot Dome oil scandal could be pulled right under the nose of the senate and no one would know the difference.

There doesn't seem to be a Tom Walsh or a Hugo Black or a Ferdinand Pecora in the entire comgress.

Most pathetic example of alleged investigation took place before 77-year-old Senator Green's committee for the probing of campaign expenditures. The Rhode Island senator's docile, do-nothing behavior was excellent corroboration of Dewey's thesis that old men can't run the government.

Senator Green and colleagues let witnesses blandly admit to tacit violations of the Corrupt Practices Act, admit the hiding of campaign contributions, with no action and little moral indignation expressed by the committee.

William J. Goodwin, treasurer of the American Democratic National Committee (a Roosevelt-hating group, not to be confused with the Democratic National Committee), admitted a hidden contribution of several thousand dollars from Sears-Roebuck's Gen. Robert E. Wood, American First organizer, also from Wall street broker Ed Hutton; also from various corporations, despite the fact that it is against the law for corporations to contribute and for contributions of any kind to be hidden.

A Cheering Session
After the milk-and-water session of the alleged investigating committee was over, those who were supposed to be investigated dropped in for a drink at the Carrol Arms hotel.

"Poor, dumb Bob Murphy," gloriated Robert Harriss, former Coughlinite, who is supporting the American Democratic National Committee. He was referring to the senate committee's attorney.
"I wouldn't mind being investigated by him at any time."

William Goodwin, American Democratic Treasurer, then recited all over again his testimony before the committee and congratulated himself on making the senators look silly.

"We should make Senator George of Georgia titular head of the Democratic party, after Roosevelt is defeated," advised Ralph Moore, ghost writer to Senator Paddy O'Daniel. "He'll hold the Soppy South in line and might even be good presidential timber in 1948."

NOTE — Master mind behind the American Democratic Committee is ex-Congressman John O'- Connor. The senate committee had planned to call him, but bowed neekly before a letter from Nebraska's Senator Butler, who wrote Chairman Green, that O'- Connor and other members of the American Democrats were "very busy men."

Eisenhower Free to Carry On A group of U. S. congressmen — both Republicans and Democrats —who visited France recently were greatly impressed with one particular conversation they had with General Eisenhower.

The general said that if he ever wrote a book — though he has no intention of doing so — he would devote several chapters to the freedom of action which has been permitted him in all matters.

He said he feared that, with the approaching elections, he might be under pressure to do something or say something which would have a favorable effect on the elections from the administration's point of view.

But there has been a complete absence of such pressure, either regarding the making of statements which might have a political effect, or the shaping of his military strategy. In other words, he has been permitted to run the Western European war both in name and in fact.

A Patriotic Estate
It escaped general attention, but after a great U. S. general was killed the other day, his will was probated and he left an estate of less than $2,500. He was Lt. General Lesley McNair, killed in France. His son was also killed in action.

General McNair was one of the geniuses of the U. S. army. He was responsible for the organization and training of the ground troops now doing such a magnificent job in France. Yet, under the system prevailing in the U. S. army and navy he was paid only a meagre salary, scarcely enough to live on. It made it impossible for him to save anything.

This points to the drastic need for higher salaries for American public servants today. It is one of the tragedies of this era that few men of real ability can afford to remain in government service for very long on current government salaries, unless they are independently wealthy. McNair was not a great general but a great patriot.

He stayed on and made the financial sacrifice, even before he made the supreme sacrifice.

Mrs. Quezon has Money Troubles
It isn't being advertised, but Mrs. Quezon, wife of the late president of the Philippines, is leaving Washington for California in order to find a place where she can live cheaper. Meanwhile, she has had a slight tiff with new President Osmena, who replaced her husband. The tiff was over the question of a pension.

President Osmena offered Mrs.
Quezon a pension of $1,000 a month but pointed out that this was subject to approval by the Philippine congress. If they did not vote it later, he said, it might be necessary for Mrs. Quezon to refund the money. However, Osmena promised to do his best to get the pension voted.

Mrs. Quezon, however, refused.
She said she could not afford to risk going into debt to the Philippine government and having to pay the money back. So she has given up the ornate suite at the Shoreham hotel, which she and her husband occupied as a second White House, and is leaving for California.

NOTE — President Osmena, in the meanwhile, has gone to join General MacArthur in preparation for a triumphal entry into the Philippines.

As an American newspaper correspondent in Berlin from 1919 to 1941, Sigrid Schultz saw at first hand the events that led from World War I to World War II. And she saw the behind-the-scenes preparation for the coming "war-in-peace" that she warns will culminate in World War III. This is the story of Germany's plans to win the peace, plans that even now are being put into effect.

XX

CONFRONTING the next German government is the serious problem of the unwed mothers encouraged by the Nazi regime as a means of breeding future warriors.

The Nazi Party has always made a great point of the virility of its members. I have seen the sex instinct deliberately aroused in many ways. At mass meetings, speeches dwelling on the copulative prowess of the Nazi male usually send the Storm Troopers marching out of the hall all set for a demonstration.

At the movies, I have seen pictures whose only purpose could have been to turn the spectator's thoughts toward procreation, with long love passages and subsequent scenes depicting the joys of parenthood.

Hence, besides the large number of women who joined the Nazi forces out of mistaken patriotism, or from reactionary instincts, or from greed, or out of craving for adventure, there arose another sizeable group — the women who clung to Nazism because only the Nazi Party would protect their illegitimate children. Theoretically, the fathers are the "young German heroes" who have been fighting Hitler's war. Actually, they are often the married bosses of little secretaries, filing clerks, and saleswomen.

THERE was the young unmarried woman working in the Propaganda Ministry who frankly talked about her newborn child to the foreign correspondents. She had been away for a few weeks.

On her return she told us of the confinement and of the fine new German. She was only one of a large number. Usually such women tried to brazen out the situation, making fun of the "old-fashioned, backward Christians." Often enough this little set speech would be accompanied by abuse of the wives who would not give divorces to the men who had fathered the concubine's un-Christian children. If the fathers could have got divorces, the thought ran, then the unmarried mothers could marry and start new families.

With all their prating about the German home, the Nazis have systematically destroyed its security, increasing thereby their hold on the population. No one realized this contradiction more bitterly than the decent women who saw their ideals degraded every day, sometimes by their own daughters.

Yet a great deal of the blame rests with the decent women, too.
For they had their chance to vote,
to do something about Hitler before Hitler came to power, and even thereafter for some time, until the Gestapo attained its all-powerful position. But the glittering mirage of Nazi conquests blinded many of these women to the danger to themselves and to their country.

IN 1918 it was not quite correct to talk about sex. The German women who lost their husbands and sweethearts in the war resigned themselves as well as they could to loneliness, to church activities, and to social-welfare work. They were still Christian.
But after years of Hitler-encouraged pagan licentiousness and political mysticism, the situation differs radically today.

Great numbers of German women have lost their men during World War II. But where is the religion to console them? They have no religion, except their "duty to the state." Women of other countries will also have to face celibacy. But they will not have been taught that their sole function is to perpetuate the race.

Other societies still prize Christian restraint. Hysteria will strike the German woman twice as hard as the women with traditions of emotional control.

Any United Nations soldiers who cross the German borders must be prepared to experience determined feminine attack. The German woman who can go to a United Nations country as the wife of a returned soldier can carry on there, with impunity, the work of the secret general staff. And she will consider her children German.

THE woman who cannot help produce the next German generation will find other ways to serve the nation, in business and in politics, fighting with woman's weapons for Germanic world domination. And countless organizations already set up to utilize their desperate energies will provide whatever help is needed to facilitate their conquests.

There is always the possibility that the women and the young people who have now experienced the real horrors of war on their home soil will come to protest against war. They may even teach their children to hate it, as the mothers of young Americans, Englishmen, and Frenchmen taught their children to hate war after 1918. But there remains the war within a war, toward which the efforts of the political organizers in the German nation have been directed ever since 1940.

Only when the women realize that the old sex and sympathy appeals no longer get them anywhere, that the ammunition for the secret war-in-peace is powerless, then — and only then — will they change. With the help of the small minority of good women among them, and paralyzed by lack of response from the outside world, they can be made slowly to revert to the standards of their decent forebears of long ago, the old-time Germans, not yet poisoned with the virus of pan-Germanism.

Back to Work In War Plant
KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23—(P)—The day shift of 8,000 workers went back on the job at North American Aviation's big bomber plant in the Fairfax district at 7 o'clock this morning, following a work stoppage which began in the plant's modification center Thursday afternoon and spread to the main plant Friday.

Approximately 700 of the 16,000 workers involved attended a mass meeting yesterday afternoon, voting almost unanimously to accept a recommendation of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) Local No. 31 executive board that they return to work this morning. The board acted after a group of 127 workers, terminated on the ground that they had agreed to place their own cases in the hands of the War Labor Board for settlement, and urged the other workers to get back on the job.

The plant, only source of B-25 Billy Mitchell bombers for the armed services, was the scene of brief action Saturday when a group of irate soldiers and sailors dispersed pickets and destroyed their placards.

Missourians Hold High Ranks in Navy

State Has Good Reason to Celebrate Navy Day, Oct. 27

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—(P)—Missouri is a long distance from any ocean but it will have a good reason to celebrate Navy Day, Oct. 27. For six of the navy's rear admirals and two of the marine corps' brigadier generals are Missouri natives.

The assistant chief of staff to the commander in chief of the U. S. fleet is from Missouri—Rear Admiral William R. Purnell who was born in Bowling Green, Mo., and who still maintains his residence there.

A destroyer commander during the First World War, Admiral Purnell received the Navy Cross for duty in the Lamson. He previously had seen action in the Mexican campaign.

Shortly before this war broke out, he was made chief of staff and aide to the commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet and from January, 1942 until April, 1942, held a similar position with the U. S. naval force, Southwest Pacific.

He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for his work in those two posts. Offensive missions of forces of that command, the citation said, resulted in substantial damage to the enemy. He became assistant chief of staff on June 18, 1942.

Born in Kansas City
One of the most colorful of the high ranking group is Rear Admiral Harold C. Train of Kansas City who was born there in 1887. He was aboard the California at Pearl Harbor during the Japanese attack. At the time he was chief of staff and aid to Vice Admiral W. S. Pye, commander of the battle forces.

As a result of orders, which naval officers said probably prevented the Nevada from being badly damaged and blocking Pearl Harbor channel, Train was awarded a letter of commendation by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz. Later he served as assistant chief of staff to Nimitz and Pye, then became director of naval intelligence in July, 1942. He now is on duty with the joint post war committee of the joint chiefs of staff.

In 1926-1930, Train was navy's delegate to the Geneva armament conference and he was naval aide to President-elect Herbert Hoover when the latter toured Central and South America in 1929-30.

St. Louisan
Then there is Rear Admiral Charles Turner Joy who was born in St. Louis in 1895 and whose family now lives in Chevy Chase, Md. Joy now has "a command at sea," the navy said.

He was an officer on the Pennsylvania, flagship of Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, when it escorted the vessel which carried President Wilson to France for his historic visit in 1918. From August, 1943 until he went to sea in April, 1944, he was attached to headquarters of the commander in chief of the U. S. fleet.

Admiral Joy was awarded a letter of commendation by the commander in chief of the Pacific fleet for planning, liaison, logistics and attack operations which resulted in destruction or damage to enemy ships. He has numerous medals.

Naval Aviator
After graduating from the naval academy and serving on the Oklahoma, Davidson trained as a naval aviator. In 1924 he was named the navy's representative to serve as pilot and navigator on Capt. Ronald Amundsen's proposed polar flight expedition.

Brig. Gen. Gerald C. Thomas, born in Slater in 1894 became chief of staff under Gen. Alexander Vandegrift in the Solomon Islands when the war broke out. He was called from the Solomons last January to take over the job of director of the marine corps division of plans and policies in Washington.

Gassed during the First World War, he recovered and served with the army of occupation.

Brig. Gen. Thomas Jackson Cushman, born in St. Louis in 1895 now is commanding officer of the fourth marine base defense aircraft wing. His usual address is Port Blakely, Wash. One of his important assignments was supervising construction of the marine corps air station at Cherry Point, N. C.

Milk Keeps Best In Dark

Riboflavin, Vital Vitamin, Destroyed By Sunlight

Darkness is necessary for the proper keeping of milk, according to reports from both the Idaho and the North Carolina Experiment Stations where recent research shows that riboflavin, the most important vitamin in this food, is rapidly destroyed by exposure to sunlight.

The Idaho Station reports that milk in clear glass bottles left standing only two hours in sunlight lost nearly half its riboflavin, and in six hours lost from 70 to 80 percent. The North Carolina Station reports that almost three-fourths of the riboflavin was destroyed in bottled milk left on an open porch in sunlight from mid-afternoon.

The light rather than the heat does the damage, for the North Carolina Station found that no loss of riboflavin occurred in a dark warm place in 24 hours. The Idaho Station reports that in 6 hours in the shade at 70 degrees F. only 10 percent of the riboflavin was lost.

Apples

This is the season of the year when apples are at their best. Grocery stores now have bushels of bright red apples, yellow apples, and striped apples. Few people need to be urged to eat apples—they look good, taste good and are good for you. They contain small amounts of several of the vitamins and minerals and they appear to be good conditioners of the intestinal tract. Apple pectin has had special uses in the war to extend the supply of blood in transfusions and in dressing of war wounds. The apple pectin contains certain healing properties.

Apples make a real contribution to the diet, when used generously. The most food value is gotten from apples when eaten raw with the peel on. They may be eaten out of hand or served raw in salads and fruit cups. If apples are to be cooked there are three rules you should observe: (1) Be sure to choose the variety suited to the kind of cooking you plan to do. Some apples are best for baking, some for pie, others for sauce. Usually a tart acid apple with a pronounced apple flavor is best for sauce, pie, dumplings, etc. (2) Use little or no water when you cook apples; they are four-fifths water and a lot of this cooks off. (3) Avoid over-cooking by watching closely the progress of the apples in the kettle on top of the stove or in the oven.

To Treat Mature Dried Beans And Peas for Storage Harvest beans and peas when porch in cool fall weather may have little effect on the souring of milk but may mean a serious loss to the diet. Without the riboflavin furnished by milk, it is difficult to get the needed quantity of this vitamin in meals.

The paper containers now used by some milk companies help save the riboflavin by keeping the milk dark. If milk is delivered in clear bottles when the housewife is not at home to put it promptly in the refrigerator, a closed insulated box should be provided to keep it dark.

they are mature and dry on the vines. Treat them soon after they are harvested so that all stages of insect pests will be killed. After treating, the beans and peas must be kept in a dry, tight container such as a lard can, other tin container, or glass jars, as they may become re-infested. There are three general methods used for treating the dried beans according to the extension entomologist:

Dry Heat—This method is generally used when small quantities are involved. Spread the dry shelled beans or peas to a depth of one-half to three-fourths inch in shallow pans and place in an oven F. to 145 degrees F. for 3 or 4 hours. If the seeds are to be used for planting do not let the temperature rise over 135 degrees F. If one does not have a thermometer the proper temperature may be judged by the hand. The pan or container should be just warm enough to handle comfortably.

Fumigation or Using Carbon Disulphide—This method is used when large quantities of beans and peas are treated. Carbon disulphide is inflammable and all precautions against fire should be observed. An air tight container, such as a tin pail, glass jar, barrel, or tight box is filled with the beans or peas to within a few inches of the top. Cover the seed with a cloth and pour carbon disulphide over the surface at the rate of one ounce or 3 tablespoons to each bushel of seed. Cover the container securely with paper and the lid and let it stand for 24 to 48 hours where the temperature is 70 degrees F. or above. Be sure to keep the container away from all fire. Remove the cloth and paper, put the lid on firmly and store in a cool dry place.

Stored in Hydrated Lime—Beans treated by this method must be very thoroughly washed before cooking. Mix one pound of hydrated lime to each 2 pounds of dry shelled beans, if a small quantity is being treated. If a large quantity is being treated use one pound of hydrated lime to 4 pounds of beans.

Persimmon High In Sugar Content

As compared with other fruits the native persimmon ranks high in sugar content and is a good source of vitamins A and C. One good sized persimmon contains about as much of these two important food elements as an apricot or a tomato.

The Indians used to mix the pulp of the persimmon with corn and make it into a kind of bread. The U. S. Bureau of Home Economics has worked out recipes using persimmon pulp in puddings, custards, cakes, and various other desserts.

When persimmons are heated, their stringiness becomes more noticeable. This may be countered to some extent by adding soda to the persimmon pulp before it is heated. The quantity of soda to be used would vary with the degree of ripeness and the variety of the fruit—from 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoons of soda to 1 cup of persimmon pulp. The Bureau also found that the pulp will discolor if cooked in tin utensils and will turn dark if it stands long without adding acid.

Persimmon pulp may be preserved by mixing equal parts of pulp and sugar and placing it in a jar processing in a water bath 15 minutes.

Pot Of Parsley Is Useful

A pot of parsley on the window sill is not only useful for seasoning winter dishes, but decorative as well because of its bright green curly leaves. Of all the seasoning herbs parsley is probably the easiest to grow indoors, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Parsley may be grown indoors from seed, but this is slow. To have the leaves ready earlier, take up a plant from the garden, saving all roots possible. Clip off the larger leaves. Plant in rich well-drained soil. A good mixture is one part sand, two or three parts good garden loam, an organic fertilizer and a little bone meal. Keep the transplanted plant in the shade and well watered for several days until it starts growing. Then give it sunshine, regular watering, and cool well-ventilated atmosphere. As leaves are clipped for seasoning, new ones will grow.

Parsley gives an especially fine flavor to meats, soups and egg dishes if it is chopped and then heated a moment in a little fat.

Member Of Honor Unit

With 15th AAAF in Italy—Sgt. Albert W. Noel, 32 years old, of route 1, Knob Noster, Mo., an aircraft engine mechanic has been awarded the Distinguished Unit Badge as a member of a veteran 15th AAF B-24 Liberator bomber group which has been cited "for outstanding performance of duty in armed conflict with the enemy".

Commanded by Lt. Col. Joseph G. Russell, of San Antonio, Tex., the group received the nation's highest organization award for an attack on the aircraft factories at Wiener Neustadt, Austria, on May 10.

According to the citation which accompanied the award, "Ground personnel worked feverishly, enthusiastically and with untiring intensity to get all type B-24 aircraft in the best possible mechanical condition to insure the success of the operation."

"Adverse weather conditions broke up the wing formation of four groups, forcing two to return to their bases and causing the other group to return without dropping its bombs. . . . Despite these adverse conditions and well coordinated and vicious attacks by 80 to 90 enemy fighters, the group continued on for a highly successful bombing run, which virtually obliterated the strategic Nazi manufacturing center. . . ."

The group entered the Italian campaign in January and has since completed more than 115 combat missions over such major Nazi targets at Ploesti, Rumania; Munich, Germany; Steyr, Austria; and Blechhammer, Germany.

Washington PTA Meeting

Mrs. Anderson Reviews Program At State Convention

Mrs. Marvin Anderson gave a very interesting report of the state PTA convention held at Springfield recently at the PTA meeting Friday afternoon at Washington school. The theme of the convention was "All Children Are Our Children."

Mrs. Anderson quoted Mrs. L. H. Hughes, national first vice president, as saying fifty years ago enrollment was different, largely selected. Now enrollment is from the poorer as well as the richer class.

When war was declared, she said selective service revealed shocking differences in the advantages of children. Draft showed no preference. Many were rejected because of malnutrition, neglected teeth, poor eyesight or hearing, mental ill-health and illiteracy.

Mrs. Anderson told of the low enrollment in the teachers colleges and said legislation should be enacted which would give teachers more security.

School Program

The third grade teachers, Miss Marjorie Beazley and Miss Hortense Bapple presented their pupils in the following program. Four group readings: "Every Laugh Is Fun," "A Goblin Lives In Our House," "Jack Pumpkin Comes To Life," and "In Holland," were given by Darlene Lovins, Nancy Corley, Wilma Roberts, Patsy Korando, Billy Hammond, LaFerne Anderson, Barbara Gumm, Delores Whittington, Jimmie Byrnes, Donald LeBeque, Nancy Anderson Richard Bennett, Jimmie Schmitt, J. M. Maxwell, Benny Walter, Betty Greer, Emma Lou Giers, Raymond Bass and Glenn Smith.

Readings: "Ready for Rain" by Romona Hughes, "Oh, I'm a Roving Cowboy," by Eddie Dougherty, "Past and Present," by Ruth Waters, "October's Party," by Norma Wilcox, were given all in costume.

Three songs directed by Miss Marian Smith were: "October," "Hallowe'en" and "The Leaves and Wind."

No Decision By Willkie

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Oct. 23.—(P)—The question of which presidential candidate Wendell L. Willkie would have supported emerged today as one of the most engrossing political mysteries of the 1944 campaign.

Willkie, originally a Democrat, commanded the greatest voting appeal of any Republican presidential candidate in history as the GOP presidential standard bearer in 1940. Thus, the significance of the question lies in the possibility that if Willkie had taken a stand on the presidential race he may have influenced enough of the 22,304,755 Willkie voters of 1940 to have decided the election November 7.

The question may remain forever unanswered. Mrs. Edith Willkie Willkie, his widow, said in a statement at her Rushville home: "I am sure he had not made his decision."

Diversion at Club Meeting

A burning wash house provided a practical lesson in fire prevention for members of the South Abell Homemakers club when they held their October meeting at the home of Mrs. George Barrett who was assisted by Mrs. Mason Riley. Flames from the structure, which belonged to a member of the club, Mrs. Claud Leiter, had spread to the main dwelling which was saved by efforts of the group.

The afternoon business session was called to order by Mrs. Harry Kehl, president, and Mrs. George Barrett led the devotional service. A check was made of accomplishments of members during the year, Mrs. Mac Keller read the health letter and reports were given. A demonstration of sheet cuts in sewing was given by Mrs. G. E. Miller. All members were asked to bring waste fat for a collection to the next club meeting.

The November 6 meeting will be with Mrs. Jesse Tuggle. Mrs. Tom Stevens will be the assisting hostess.

How to keep a house from catching cold!

ONE WAY to keep a house from getting cold is by weatherstripping all doors and windows. Closing up the cracks that let cold in—and heat out.

There is going to be some shortage of coal delivered to homes this winter. Not because less coal is being mined. It is estimated that 29 millions more tons of bituminous coal will be mined this year than last—with fewer men. Quite a tribute to mine owners and miners alike!

There are adequate rail facilities for hauling the coal to your city. But certain grades of coal are going to be greatly in demand for war production. And your coal dealer is handicapped by a shortage of manpower, trucks and tires. So be patient with him.

Little, common-sense precautions can make your coal pile last 10% longer—and save that much on your fuel bill.

Such things as weatherstripping, cleaning the heating system, closing off unused rooms, firing carefully, and drawing your shades at night can help to keep your family snug and warm.

One of the biggest jobs of the C & O Lines is hauling coal from the mines along its routes, so we're in a position to understand the problem, and to know how essential coal is these days.
